I am what I am

I am a 14-year-old boy with big eyes, a straight nose and a smiling face. I think I'm good-looking, but some classmates laugh at me for being shorter than them. But I don't care about that. My mother often says, "The smallest is the best."

Although I'm not tall, I have a strong will and confidence. No matter how hard things get, I never give up. I keep working towards my goal until I succeed. My study awards and table tennis medals prove that height doesn't matter!

So don't pay much attention to what others say about you. Accept yourself, challenge yourself and believe in yourself! Always remember: I am what I am.

No one can live without connecting with others.
Therefore, it's important for us to learn how to get along well with others. We should be kind and friendly, so we can make more friends. We can share joy and sadness with our friends. If we are free, we can do voluntary work to help our neighbours. At home, we should communicate more with our parents. They are the closest people in our lives. At school, we should respect our teachers. They act as both parents and friends.

Getting along well with others is very important. It makes life much happier. If we have a good relationship with others, we will have more fun and laughter in our lives.

Good morning, everyone! It's my great pleasure to be here to give a speech.

Let me introduce my robot, Carol. She has big eyes and long arms. She speaks just like a real person. She can do many things for my family.

First, she can help do some housework, such as doing the dishes and cleaning windows. Thanks to her, my mum doesn't get too tired from housework anymore. Second, she can help me study. She checks my homework for mistakes and explains difficult maths problems to me. Most importantly, she is like a friend. When we feel lonely, she talks with us, tells jokes and plays music to lift our spirits.

With Carol around, our home is always filled with laughter and joy. She is a truly lovely and helpful robot!

That's all. Thank you!

The advantages and disadvantages of digital technology

We live in an era of digital technology. It is already part of our daily lives. But is digital technology always a good thing?

On the one hand, digital technology has made life convenient and fun. We can easily get all kinds of information we need, communicate with our friends anytime and anywhere, and enjoy online entertainment whenever we want.

On the other hand, there are some disadvantages. Too much screen time is a danger to health. What's worse, using digital devices a lot can have bad effects on sleep, limit our social life, and make it hard for us to focus.

In my opinion, we should balance the use of digital technology. While enjoying its benefits, we must also spend time exploring the real world.

Thirdly, when we go upstairs or downstairs, we should keep to the right. And never be careless while doing sport. Finally, we should protect personal information online. After we ran out, we were still a little bit scared. Within seconds, our neighbours came out, too.

The earthquake left our neighbourhood in a mess. There were some fallen trees, broken windows and rubbish in the streets. But luckily, we were all safe.

How to protect ourselves from earthquakes

Many earthquakes happen every year. As students, we must know how to protect ourselves from earthquakes.

If we are indoors, the safest place is under a strong table or desk. Try to use our hands and arms to protect our heads. We should keep away from windows and stay low at the corner of the wall because it is safer than standing in the middle of the room. If we are outdoors, get away from buildings and big trees. If we are in the ruins, don't be nervous. Remember that the most important thing is to stay calm. We can shout for help.

These are the ways of protecting ourselves from earthquakes. I hope they can help you.
